

You Love Building Bridges? Between Challenges and Solutions? Between Doers and Skeptics?

(Senior) Business Consultant PIM (all genders)

Parsionate advises companies, unlocks their potential and works with them to invent entirely new solutions – all on the basis of data and what it has to offer. We call this data leadership. We leverage our expertise to focus on the benefits and successes we generate for our customers and partners, which is exactly why Parsionate works end-to-end: we are by our customers' side from strategy development to full technological implementation. All this is what our more than 200 experts are working on at our Parsionate locations across Europe. Why not join the team?

What you can expect:

- You are passionate about advising our customers on their challenges in the area of digitalization of their product information
- The design and optimization of our customers' business processes is one of your tasks
- You take responsibility for solutions within our customer projects
- You are responsible for the "no-code" implementation of software that makes our customers happy!
- Together with your team you will develop solutions to create real added value for our customers!
- You have been enthusiastically working in the IT consulting field for several years now

Your skillset:

- You have been consulting in the IT sector for several years with enthusiasm
- You would like to contribute your knowledge of master and product data (MDM, ERP, PIM, PDM, PLM, ...) to our company
- In the past years you have gained knowledge about business processes in manufacturing or trading companies
- Your strong communication skills and your confident appearance are among your qualifications
- You like to work in a team
- You speak German and English fluently

Parsionate

parsionate GmbH

Helen Roth
Motorstraße 25
70499 Stuttgart
working@parsionate.com

Jetzt Bewerben